As they open the door to the spirit world in their search for answers, The Other Side's team brings courage, respect and the wisdom of Indigenous traditions.

Program synopsis – 3 lines

Jeff, Erin and Tom are paranormal investigators with a difference – rooted in respect and indigenous traditions, they seek to bring healing to lost spirits and answers to those who live with them. But as they probe the unknown, they can't help but be affected by the powerful stories of love, fear, loss and redemption that emerge.

Program Synopsis – Paragraph

There's a question at the heart of every episode of The Other Side. And as the team pulls back the curtain to reveal the answer, they're drawn into a passageway full of twists and turns. Intuitive Jeff Richards, Paranormal Investigator Erin Goodpipe, and Spirit Guide Tom Charles each bring their own gifts to the search for the truth. The Indigenous traditions that guide them demand a respect for the spirit world; that respect is their foundation as they connect with entities both friendly and troubled. They must also open their hearts to the living as they help people navigate the fear and anxiety emotions that sometimes accompany a glimpse into the darkness.
